GLASGOW, 21ST JANUARY, 1907.

MONTHLY REPORT ON MACKIE'S 'WHITE HORSE CELLAR' BLEND OF SCOTCH WHISKY.

I Hereby certify that I have taken samples of every vatting of MACKIE'S 'WHITE HORSE CELLAR' BLEND OF SCOTCH WHISKY used in bottling during the month of December, and the results of my analyses indicate that it conforms to the standard for Pot Still Scotch Whisky set up in the London case.
I am also of opinion that it is an old Whisky of excellent quality and flavour which has been well matured in wood.

INDIA.

The special message regarding India which we publish this evening will be read with interest not unmixed with anxiety. It is always difficult for those not on the spot to understand the real significance which attaches to reports similar to those which have been published in reference to the outbreak at Lahore. As we pointed out a few nights ago it is as easy to overrate the importance of an incident as to under-rate it. Considerable danger attaches to both. If an affair is overrated punitive or even preventive measures may stir to a flame a spark of disaffection which would have flickered out if left to itself. On the other hand if it is underrated a disturbance, if not watched closely, may extend until it becomes serious, [whereas a few timely precautions would have stamped it out. Very possibly the Government of India has been on the horns of a dilemma for a considerable time past. It has known of course that a political propaganda has been going on for months which has been bitterly anti-British. But the British have always given a broad toleration to the subject races over which they rule and have extended to them the rights of free speech which they hold as one of their own most precious possessions. Whether this toleration is not in some instances carried much too far is a question which is open to argument. Although we are aware that we are probably putting ourselves into antagonism with the majority of our readers we feel impelled to express the belief that the foundation of all the trouble in India is the craze the British people have for spreading education. Education is all very well in its way, it assists its possessor in the struggle of life—if he knows how to use it. But when the seed of education is cast upon soil which has not been carefully prepared for its reception the indigenous weeds which spring up with it prevent it from fruitifying. We firmly believe that the basic cause of all the trouble in India is the semi-educated class which has mislearned most of the knowledge crammed into it at the schools and universities but which, by reason of that pitiful pretence of learning, is looked upon with reverential awe by its illiterate countrymen. The ignorant people of India if left to themselves would be easy enough to rule and they would be sensible enough to know that the condition in which they have a secure tenure of life and property is much better for them than those that prevailed in the bad old times when they never knew when their homes would be ravished and their lands harried. But the supercilious students, gorged with half digested knowledge, go amongst them and intoxicate them with flamboyant dissertations upon the glory of independence. The riot does not cure one thousandth part of an anna about independence but he regards the lathi with admiring awe as one who has crossed the blue water and has learnt more of the White Sahib's wisdom than he ever knew himself. Therefore, after listening to a course of the nationalistic oratory, the riot in his practical way gets a club and starts out to annihilate the White Sahib. He of course gets shot or hanged, while the real cause of all the trouble at the worst is treated as a political criminal and becomes a protégé of Mr W. T. Stend. There should be a change of opinion. The agitators should be hanged on the finding of a drum head court martial and the riot should be told to go home and not make a fool of himself. This method is rough and ready, no doubt, but if it were adopted there would be no more disquieting news from India.

LOCAL AND COAST NEWS.

The German Mail of the 10th April was delivered in London on the 9th May.

The May Criminal Sessions will be formally opened on Saturday, 18th May, and then adjourned until Tuesday, 21st May. Jurors who have been summoned for the 18th are not required to attend until Tuesday, 21st May, at 10 a.m.

With regard to a paragraph appearing in yesterday's issue concerning an action brought at the Magistrate's by Mrs. W. Farrell, of Kowloon, against her husband we have to state that the case was wrongly stated. There was no charge of desertion and so far as the other matter is concerned we understand that it has been dropped. We regret that we were misled into stating that a charge of desertion had been made. As a matter of fact the defendant in the case in the city and is supporting the complainant.

To-night a promenade concert is to be held on the Volunteer Ground in aid of the Union Church Organ Fund. An excellent programme is to be submitted, and a good attendance should be attracted. The programme is as follows:—

Part I.—Plantation Song, "When you hear the Banjo," (Alfred Scott Gatty), the Alexander Quartette. Tenor Solo, "Love, could I only tell thee," (Capell), Mr P. W. Goldring. Recitation, "The Faithful Lovers," (F. C. Burnand), Miss Blair. Con Song, "Little Overture," (Gosio Stuart), Mr Frederick Carr. Soprano Solo, "A Woodland Madrigal," (R. Batten), Mrs R. Newborn. Song, "The Mayor of Muckemdyke," (Robey), Mr W. G. Worcester.

Part II.—Plantation Song, "Far, Far Away," (Alfred Scott Gatty), The Alexander Quartette. Tenor Solo, "Queen of the Earth," (Pinsuti), Mr Geo. P. Lamert. Contralto Solo, "Come close, Beloved," (Lambert), Mrs. R. Hancock. Violin Solo, "Sous le vent de Haydn," (variations on the Austrian National Anthem), Mr P. F. Joki. Song, "English as she is Spoken," Mr R. Sutherland. Soprano Solo, "An Interlude," (London Ronald), Mrs. R. Newborn.

Holidays.

Monday, May 20, and Empire Day, May 24, will be observed as Government Holidays.

The Rainfall.

The following table gives the monthly rainfall at the Observatory to the end of April, with the means and extremes for 23 years:—

RAINFALL AT HONGKONG OBSERVATORY.

| | 1907 | 1884-1906. | Mean. |
|---------------|-------|------------|-------|
| January..... | 3.45 | 1.37 | 8.43 |
| February..... | 1.16 | 1.77 | 7.95 |
| March..... | 3.4 | 3.06 | 11.49 |
| April..... | 11.75 | 5.39 | 14.89 |

The year's rainfall to the end of the month amount to 15.70 inches, the 23 years average for the same period being 11.54 inches.

The Dairy Farm.

The outbreak of disease among the cattle at the Dairy Farm is not a serious one, inasmuch as only one cow has been attacked and this animal has been quarantined, as it were, being kept quite apart from the other cattle. With the recent additions to the Dairy Farm's herd—22 cattle having recently arrived from America—the company are well able to supply their customers, who need be under no apprehensions. There is no danger of milk from sick cows finding its way to the public, and just now the supervisory measures are redoubled.

Plague in India.

The plague of the week ended April 6, in India, reached another record, with 73,000 cases and 62,000 deaths. The Punjab has 34,000 deaths, the Umballa, Ludhiana, Rohak, Jullundur, Ferozepore, Amritsar, Gurdaspur, Lahore, Gujranwala, Sialkot, Gujarat and Shalpur Districts being all badly affected. The United Provinces report 15,000 deaths distributed amongst the Meerut, Agre, Rohilkhand, Allahabad, Benares, Gorakhpur, Lucknow and Fyzabad Divisions. Bombay returns 3,000 deaths, Bengal 6,000 and the Central Provinces 1,500.

REVIEWS.

"SEABREEZE'S STORIES." By Captain John Marchant, Hongkong.

This is a collection of short stories by a writer who is well known locally as the wielder of a fluent and prolific pen. He has a happy knack of intertwining the weird with a sufficiency of sentiment and this little volume can be commended to anyone who likes light reading. There is a current of humour running throughout which is very acceptable in these days when most short story writers prefer weird subjects. "Seabreeze's stories" can be procured from local booksellers and as the price is only 50 cents the volume should have a large sale.

We have received a catalogue of vegetable and flower seeds from Messrs James Carter and Co., the well known florists of 11th Holborn, London. Modern processes of photographic reproduction are now largely used in the illustration of these catalogues, and the products of Messrs Carter's seeds, judging by the illustrations in the catalogue before us, would make our local horticulturists' mouths water. While the list contains all the common English annuals, so easily grown in every cottage garden at home and so difficult to coax through the fogs and typhoons of this climate, we also find in it some of our common Hongkong weeds Ageratum and Lantana described as "hardy annual" and "half hardy perennial" and used as bedding plants at home. There is also a good list of vegetable seeds and the usual sundries including a worm killer for grass lawns, which might be useful here; also sundries, Japanese dwarf trees, etc.

Mr A. P. Gutierrez has been re-instated first clerk, Mercantile Marine Office.

The preacher in St. John's Cathedral at matins on Sunday will be the Rt. Rev. C. H. Brent, Bishop of the Philippine Islands.

Mr J. N. Farquhar, M.A., Oxon., will address the Hongkong Christian Union at 5.30 p.m. on Monday, at the European Y.M.C.A., Alexandra Buildings.

Mr E. D. C. Wolfe has been appointed Inspector of Schools, during the absence of Mr E. A. Irving, and Mr G. N. Orme will relieve Mr Wolfe as Second Magistrate.

Two Chinese women have arrived in Calcutta and are going about seeking subscriptions for the famine stricken in China. It is suggested that a public meeting should be called to raise funds for the relief of the starving millions.

Wig: "Jimmy's uncle has just died and left him a couple of millions. He always said his ship would come in some day."

Wagg: "Yes, but he didn't expect an heirship."

PRINCE CHING IN TROUBLE.

Evidence of Bribery.

(Chinese Mail's Service.)

PEKING, May 10.

Prince Ching, who has been impeached before the Throne by Minister Shum Chun Hsen, is now under investigation by Prince Chun, who reports having discovered evidence of bribery.

CHEN TUNG LIANG CHING.

May Stay in America.

(Chinese Mail's Service.)

PEKING, May 10.

Chinese merchants in America have joined in a memorial to the Peking Government requesting that Sir Chen Tung Liang Ching, Chinese Minister to America, may be allowed to remain in his post until the conclusion of the Exclusion Treaty.

(Chinese Mail's Service.)

PEKING, May 10.

An announcement that Minister Shum Chun Hsen will be called to the Grand Council is expected shortly.

SZECHUEN-HANKOW RAILWAY.

Proposed Loan from France.

(Chinese Mail's Service.)

PEKING, May 10.

The Ministry of posts and Communications proposes obtaining a loan from France for the construction of the Szechuen-Hankow Railway.

The new route, which has been decided upon, is to penetrate Hanchungfu and Kaifongfu, then joining Lukyang and Chingtu.

The line is to be finished within five years. It is reported that Chang Chi Tung does not agree to the alteration of the route and has sent a Weiyeen to Peking to represent his views to the Board.

FOOCHOW MINT.

Officer's Property Seized.

(Chinese Mail's Service.)

FOOCHOW, May 10.

Taotai Ma, of the Foochow Mint, who has been charged with corruption by Chan Pik, the Currency Commissioner who was on a mission to investigate the various mints throughout the Chinese Empire, has been tried before the Chief Justice at Foochow, and an order for the seizure of Ma's property has been issued.

Two boxes of pearls and thirty-six pairs of gold bangles have been seized.

COLDS AND PNEUMONIA.

THERE can be no excuse for a man if he allows a cold to develop into pneumonia. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency towards this disease and many doctors' bills have been saved by its timely use. For sale by all chemists and storekeepers.

SPAIN'S QUEEN.

Gives Birth to a Son.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)
LONDON, May 11.

Queen Victoria of Spain gave birth to a son at noon on the 10th inst.

Preparations for the Heir.

"PRESENTING" THE BABE.
The lines of the striking ceremony that is to follow the birth of a child to the King and Queen of Spain are laid down in a decree signed by King Alfonso which was made public some time ago.

It will be a ceremony as public as it will be solemn and magnificent. The ante-chamber of the palace will be crowded with the grandees of the Court, and with the very cream of Spanish society.

The decree specifies that the Ministers, Palace officers, deputations from the legislative bodies, grandees, knights of various orders, ecclesiastical representatives, the Mayor of Madrid, and a commission of councillors and many provincial representatives and others shall be present.

THE FOREIGN DIPLOMATIC BODY will also be invited to attend.

When the birth takes place the Mistress of the Robes announces it to the President of the Council of Ministers.

Then the decree goes on:—

In order that the inhabitants of the most heroic town of Madrid may know without delay whether the newly-born child is a Prince or an Infanta there shall be hoisted, in the first case, the Spanish flag over that part of the Royal Palace known as the Puerta del Escorial, and there shall be fired a salute of twenty-one guns at the customary places; in the second case, the flag shall be white, and the salute shall be fifteen guns. Should the birth take place at night a light of the appropriate colour shall be placed beneath the flag.

Accompanied by the Mistress of the Robes and the chief officers of the Palace, I will present the newly-born child to the Diplomatic Body and the other personages assembled in the Palace, in virtue of the present decree.

In arranging for this typically Spanish ceremony the approaches to the Palace are strewn with sand to prevent noise from the arriving carriages.

THE KING PRESENTS HIS CHILD.

The approach of the auspicious event is announced by the King's private physician, Dr. Guendinning, to the members of the medical faculty present at the Palace. Then the chief of the Palace guards is informed, and the necessary arrangements for the persons mentioned in the royal decree.

The presentation will be made by King Alfonso in the following words after he has raised in the ante-chamber the veil covering the new-born babe's face:—

"I present to you my beloved son (or daughter), successor to the throne of Spain, the Prince (or Princess) of Asturias, to whom my dear spouse, her Majesty the Queen, has just given birth."

ROOMS READY FOR ROYAL BABE.

Then the present file put the King in his stately holding the babe in a basket placed on a silver of gold. The King and his suite withdraw, and the ceremony is at an end.

Carpenters and decorators brought from England have not finished the decoration of the apartments intended for the royal infant.

An English scheme of decoration in soft tones has been followed, and all the floors are laid in parquet.

The babe will lie in the historic cradle in which Ferdinand VII. was rocked, and from which the canopy and heavy hangings have been removed.

THE "PUNJABEE" APPEAL.

NOTING AFTER THE DECISION.

LAHORE, April 17.

The Punjab Chief Court has given judgment in the Punjabee Appeal case.

On Tuesday morning, when the accused were brought into the Court, Sir William Clark, Chief Judge, with whom on the Bench was Mr. Justice Roid, said:—"Jaswant Rai and L. Atharwalla, in the opinion of this Court you have been rightly convicted of attempting to promote feelings of enmity and hatred. Had this Court noticed in you any signs of regret at your offence it would have been pleased to mitigate the sentences passed upon you. It has noticed no such signs, and the only alteration the Court makes is to reduce the sentences from six months' rigorous to six months' simple imprisonment. The fines stand."

As the prisoners were being removed the Chief Judge addressed them, remarking that they should go away quietly in the conveyance provided for them and create no disturbance, and that they would not be harassed.

EUROPEANS ASSAULTED.

Presumably as a result of ill-feeling engendered by the confinement to jail of the Editor and the proprietor of the Punjabee, a number of assaults upon Europeans took place in Lahore in the course of the day.

It appears that the police received only about 20 minutes' notice that the Chief Court's judgment was to be delivered at noon, and there was in consequence no time for the authorities to make arrangements for the prevention of the disturbance, such as proved adequate on the occasion of the Divisional Judge's decision in the same case. A very slow and dilapidated gharry was all that could be commandeered on the spur of the moment for the removal of the prisoners, and the rate at which it proceeded from the Court to the jail enabled a fair number of sympathisers to keep pace with it for about half the journey. These seemed to be engaged in throwing mud at the escorting constables and confetti at the prisoners, but there was more than one bull on the wrong target. The gharry having thus had a good send-off the mob proceeded to the Mall, and here most of the assaults referred to occurred. A Sergeant Inspector of Volunteers had his tonga stopped and received many blows with sticks, accompanied by opprobrious observations upon the uniform he wore. A German gentleman was dragged from his phaeton and was being severely handled by the crowd when a young British Officer, who happened to be standing at the door of a European shop, ran to his assistance. He knocked two of the rabble down and arrested the third, and had the satisfaction in a few moments of seeing this last removed to the lock up by the constables, who together with half a dozen other police-vallahs and Mr. Phillips, the Inspector, had just arrived upon the scene. The presence of this formidable body representing law had the effect of routing the whole mob. Mr. Graham, a gentleman connected with the National Bank, and Mr. Wilson, Chartered Accountant, were also insulted and assaulted on the Mall.

A MASS MEETING.

In the evening a mass meeting, similar to the one held on Sunday last, was held in the city, when some speeches of a seditious nature were made. Later, a procession was formed, but the police prevented its entering the Civil Station and after a tour of the city environs it broke up.

A MEETING OF PROTEST.

On the invitation of Nawab Muhammad Ali Khan Kazilbash, Vice-President of the Lahore Municipal Committee, a number of Rastis and leading Mohammedan and Hindu citizens of Lahore assembled in the Mahabat Hall on Sunday to express their disapproval of the conduct of the rowdies who had assaulted certain European gentlemen on the 16th inst.

Among those present were the Lahore Tribune and the Pais Akhbar, and the Secretary of the Anjuman-i-Hamiyah Islami.

Mr. Minn Mahomed Shafi, Barrister-at-Law, formally proposed:—"That the leading Hindu and Mohammedan citizens of Lahore expressed their strong disapproval of the rowdy and unseemly acts committed by a number of students and other persons on the day the Chief Court delivered judgment in the Punjabee case, and regarded it as the duty of all persons to prove their love of Government and country by striving to promote harmony and unity amongst the European and Indian subjects of His Most Gracious Majesty King Edward VII., and trust that in future no one will bring discredit to the country and the community by being guilty of such wretched conduct."

The resolution was carried unanimously. The second resolution, which was to the effect that copies of the above resolution be forwarded to the Principals of local Colleges and Head-masters of schools, requesting their co-operation in the realisation of the objects of the Association, was moved by Mr. Ganpat Rai, Barrister-at-Law, who pointed out that the few students who misbehaved in this fashion had shown that they did not really derive any benefit from the education imparted to them. He was sure that gentlemen of all parties, even those who were supporters of the Punjabee newspaper, condemned the disgraceful conduct of which these present had assembled to express their disapproval.

Maulvi Mahabub Akram, in seconding the resolution, referred to the text of the Koron, which exhorted people not to create dissensions between class and class. The resolution, having been supported, was carried unanimously.

AUTHORITIES TO BLAME.

Writing on April 20 the Bombay Gazette says: "It seems to us the police are to blame for the disturbance which occurred at Lahore as the outcome of the Punjabee case. They were well aware that at the hearing of the original charge much ill-feeling existed and that disorderly conduct arose after the sentence had been passed on the accused. They could, therefore, to have anticipated another manifestation of feeling after the disposal of the appeal on Tuesday. But they say there was not time in which to take adequate precautions. No time between daylight and noon when the Court concluded its revision of the appeal. The crowd, as large as the result was disastrous. A very slow and dilapidated gharry was all that could be commandeered on the spur of the moment. That may be so but there was no immediate hurry. The prisoners might just as well have been removed after night-fall. The police are to blame for the disturbance which occurred at Lahore as the outcome of the Punjabee case. They could, therefore, to have anticipated another manifestation of feeling after the disposal of the appeal on Tuesday. But they say there was not time in which to take adequate precautions. No time between daylight and noon when the Court concluded its revision of the appeal. The crowd, as large as the result was disastrous. A very slow and dilapidated gharry was all that could be commandeered on the spur of the moment. That may be so but there was no immediate hurry. The prisoners might just as well have been removed after night-fall. The police are to blame for the disturbance which occurred at Lahore as the outcome of the Punjabee case. A BRAVE SIAMESE.

True Till Death.

The most loyal King's Messenger I (T. P.'s Weekly) ever read of was wrecked in the spring of the year 1086 off the Cape of Good Hope. He was the second of the three great Mandarins sent from the King of Siam on an embassy to the King of Portugal, and he contrived to reach the shore while carrying the Royal despatches aloft on a saba. This, however, was but the beginning of his trouble and of his probation. The Portuguese captain, whose miscalculation at sea had caused their shipwreck by a no less disastrous miscalculation on land, led them one of the most terrible marches on record. During this march of thirty-one days to the Cape of Good Hope (which the captain had assured them was but two days' journey off), the older and weaker members of the party fell out and died, and amongst them the chief of the Siamese Ambassadors. When his strength gave out upon the second day, he would not hear of his fellow-Mandarins or of his suite staying with him, though nothing that he could say would dissuade an old servant and young lad of fifteen, to whom he had shown great kindness, from remaining behind with him to die. For another fortnight the Siamese contrived to keep up with their Portuguese guides, who then, however, gave their eastern friends the slip, leaving them as they supposed to wander till they died in the trackless desert.

Those second ambassador, Occum Chamman when he realised the base desertion of the Portuguese, encouraged his enraged and disheartened countrymen by pointing to the despatches, "You have seen," he said to them, "that on sea or land, in shipwreck or in the desert, drowning or dying of hunger and thirst, my sole thought has been not my own life or suffering, but only and always of your King's despatches. If my strength should give out, as I fear it will, I commit them as a sacred charge to the third ambassador; and if he in turn should die, he will entrust them with his last breath to the next in rank, in the hope that someone of us may survive to return this solemn trust to your King. If, however, the last man left of us, into whose keeping they are committed, should also die, then he must crawl with his last strength to the nearest eminence and there bury them, to show to them in death the same respect we had shown to them in life." Occum Chamman, by this speech, so enheartened his deserted and despairing followers with the idea of the meritedness of the charge entrusted to them, that both he and they survived, almost by a miracle, to stagger on till they reached the Cape of Good Hope.
